

Editors' Note

The transcriptions for bass clarinet in the Alea Publishing catalog are taken from urtext editions, typically without change to the original key or alteration of range. Where required, the need for an extended-range instrument is indicated in the online catalog description.

In general, every effort has been made to omit nothing and to preserve the composer's musical intent as written for the original instrument. Alea Publishing believes that the individual performer or teacher will thereby have the benefit of the highest level of musical information, allowing freedom to create his or her individual interpretation.

In the past few years, our catalog has expanded beyond the original mission of transcriptions for bass clarinet; we now publish many original compositions and music for other instruments. Please stay in touch and visit our site often as we continue to grow!
